CHICLET RUNS FIRST IN SERIAL HANDIGAP

Captures Feature Race from Classy Field at Pimlico Track.

By GEORGE B. MORRIS.
Fimilico Race Track, Md., Nov. 8.—The defeat of Leochares in the Pimilco Fall Serial Handicap, the feature number on the card today, was a distinct blow to the the card today, was a distinct blow to the talent. There can be no doubt that Leo-chares was the best horse in the race, but met with bad racing luck. Chiclet was the winner, but, thanks to Jockey Ball, who rode J. J. Lillis, Ball carried Leochares to the extreme outside of the as they were turning for home.

If this plan is adopted it would enable all the schools to cut in on the financial end and would afford the kind of support a game of this kind deserves.

The playing of an all-star team to be named in this manner would be a sure drawing card and would surely boaster up the treasury of the athletic associations of the various schools. The namiting of the players by the coaches of the different schools would tend to make the players work hard for the positions and would give more glory to be an all-high-school selection than just being named on a mathematical eleven.
